JERRY ALFRED & THE MEDICINE

BEAT

- ETSI SHON - GRANDFATHER'S SONG

Jerry Alfred is a singer, songwriter and shaman's son from the Yukon's Northern Tutchone Nation. Though he is a traditional artist, he has chosen to present his art in a contemporary form. Straddling two cultures, Etsi Shon is an uncommonly successful integration of traditional chanting with an almost psychedelic spectrum of sonic colors; it is filled with infectious hooks and sounds. Etsi Shon is a soulful, moving piece of work that deserves to find a larger audience.

RHR 93 CD only

- NENDAÄ - Go Back

Jerry Alfred, singer, songwriter and artist continues to bring us more great, soulful, music. Traditional teachings and contemporary sounds combined to make this album a unique work representing the very ancient traditions of the Northern Tutchone Nation.

RHR 97 Cassette & CD

- KEHLONN

From an oral tradition predating recorded history, songkeeper Jerry Alfred's music resonates in the modern world with a poignant truth that defies categorization and speaks to our spirit. Alfred sings in his native Northern Tutchone language.

Like the church in the snow, or the cry of the great black bird, his music is a Yukon song. This is an evocative journey that will confirm Medicine Beat followers and captivate new listeners, as it transcends the boundaries of culture and speech.

CHIEF JIM BILLIE- ALLIGATOR TALES

The music of Chief Jim Billie reflects the influences he grew up with on the Seminole Reservation in the swamplands of the Florida everglades. His songs are all written from true experiences, often paying homage to and telling the world the ways of his ancestral past. He takes those influences and songs in an unusual direction from where one might expect, bringing instead a message of suffering and difficulties, a description of the positive aspects of life and where we can go from here. Happy to be alive, in love, and with his children, taking care of his tribe and to continue the quest for the betterment of his people - his is not a struggle, but more looked at as the business of a positive life. Spreading his outlook and stories through his music is his ongoing life's passion. 12 songs include Big Alligator, Old Ways Will Survive, Ways of the Glades, Master of Them All and The Rabbit and The Bear.

SOAR 193 Cassette $10.98 CD $18.98

- SEMINOLE FIRE

Stories, teachings and legends from a world that has been largely unknown until recently are presented here. Using a combination of music, sounds and musical talents to tell these tales delivered by the Chief's captivating voice, we invite you in to his unusual world and his people's viewpoint on the rest of the world. As Seminole is not a written language, preservation of these stories and legends takes on a dual purpose - passing along for all time these stories and teachings and making them available for all the world for the first time. As the Chief explains, these stories are meant to be told at night. So, picture yourself meeting him somewhere in the mysterious Florida Everglades, as they unfold - under a chickee - with the sounds of the night mixed in. Selections include Legend of the Kissimmee River/The Snake, How the Raccoon Got Its Mask/Raccoon's Song and The Dog and the Alligator/The Traders.

EDMUND BULL

Edmund Bull is naturally talented in the art forms of traditional and contemporary music. He began to sing pow wow as a small boy with his father. He sang in school and church choirs in the sixty's. Edmund started playing guitar at age 14 and learned to play chords by ear. He started a band, the "Native Tones", at age 21. After this accomplishment, he turned back to traditional pow wow singing and formed the renowned and world champion Red Bull Singers. Edmund developed his talents and skills as a musician in the art of traditional and contemporary music. He has combined the two forms to create a very unique style and sound. He sings and composes his music with thoughts and feelings to express the way of life of the people of Turtle Island.

- INDIAN BOY

It has been Edmund's dream to record a contemporary album. His musical roots can be heard in these songs which are inspired by country and traditional cultural music. The music is to be played and enjoyed by all peoples. Nine songs include Pow Wow Time, Sleep Baby Sleep, Beat of the Drum and Long Ago an Indian.

BILLY JOE GREEN BAND - ROUGH N'

READY

- ROUGHIN' IT

Billy Joe calls himself a blues based rock and roller. His virtuosity on the guitar is formidable. His music is not straight up blues - some has a little more rock and roll in it, some a little more blues. There is a smokin' version of Carlos Santana's Earth's Cry, Heaven's Smile; if you like to feel melancholy Little Boy Blue is a pensive moody number sure to fog you into a blue funk; if you like to boogie Keep The Circle Strong will help you forget the arthritic old football injury to your left knee. If you haven't heard Billy Joe, take a listen - this debut album is long overdue.

JOY HARJO & POETIC JUSTICE

Joy came of age in the midst of a shifting, political national native consciousness. She carried her mother's love of singing and songwriting with her, and her father's oratorical and artistic accomplishments. Then one day she had to have a saxophone. That led her back to the stomp grounds of her heart. She began to sing.

- LETTER FROM THE END OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

Poet Joy Harjo, best selling author of several books including The Woman Who Fell From The Sky (1996) and She Had Some Horses, plays saxophone and speaks poetically potent lyrics over a Native American-jazz-rock-reggae musical backdrop. JOY HARJO & POETIC JUSTICE have toured extensively throughout the United States. They opened for the INDIGO GIRLS on their Honor The Earth Tour and have also performed with Bonnie Raitt & Toad The Wet Sprocket. "We play what has been called 'tribal-jazz-reggae,' which also contains elements of rock, blues, prophecy and poetry. Our audiences have been known to dance wildly in the aisles." Joy Harjo

- NATIVE JOY FOR REAL

Native Joy For Real marks Joy Harjo's debut as a singer/songwriter. An album so strong, so brimming with soul and beauty that even long time fans will be astonished by the power of its poetic vision. She has created ten singular invocations of contemporary life, on and off the reservation, that deal with the joys and tribulations of everyday existence. The music blends traditional Native rhythms and singing with jazz, rock, blues and a touch of hip-hop. Joy's trademark intensity is inspiring. The songs feature memorable refrains, smoky sax, subtle pow wow based beats, and uplifting lyrics. The unifying factor is Harjo's poetic and political vision. Ten songs include The Last World of Fire and Trash, This Is My Heart, Reality Show, and The Had-It-Up-To-Here Round Dance.

- WINDING THROUGH THE MILKY WAY

Here is a little road music to accompany us as we make the timeless journey between earth and sky. We're on a story that will always include the ancient while riding to the outer edge. We'll get there with music, poetry, lyrics, stories, sheer sorrow and joy. Start with a voice. Let it fly free. Bring in a saxophone to touch those places the words cannot reach. Add an insatiable guitar, some heavy philosophical bass, a little piano and Mvskoke and other tribal rhythms to take us back to Congo Square and before, back up into the Milky Way. Add the good thoughts of those we've met along the way. We've got it and we're traveling now. The 12 tracks include Morning Song, This is My Heart, Rabbit is Up to Tricks, and Witchi Tai To.

IN THE SPIRIT OF CRAZY HORSE

- SONGS FOR LEONARD PELTIER

Between 1972-1976 on the Pine Ridge Reservation in South Dakota, numerous criminal incidents occurred. Chief Frank Fools Crow reported that "... [while police figures show lower total] we Oglalas claim that more than one unsolved (and uninvestigated) murder-a-week was committed at Pine Ridge in 1975 and that a total of eighty had been reached by mid-October". The violence was aimed at destroying members of the American Indian Movement (AIM), their supporters and families. Tribal traditional leaders were attacked by U.S. government backed tribal leader, Dick Wilson, who did not understand or support traditional culture. On June 26, 1975, with Dick Wilson in Washington D.C. negotiating a sale of Lakota reservation lands to the federal government (without the Lakota people's consent), two FBI agents drove onto the reservation without warrant or notice. The resulting mayhem lead to the deaths of two FBI agents and a Native American. Four men were indicted for the murder of the agents (no one was charged for the murder of the Native American). One was released and two were acquitted. The fourth, Leonard Peltier was not tried until the following year after coercive tactics were used to gain a statement against him (prosecutors have since admitted that these affidavits were fabricated). The Justice Department has admitted they do not know who killed the agents yet Leonard Peltier continues to serve two life terms for that incident. Peltier's case has been the subject of numerous book, TV and film projects and internationally renowned leaders have asked for his release. Liner notes provide background information and directions for ways to help. Fourteen songs by various renowned Native American artists. An excellent collection of soulful, stirring, evocative music.

LEWIS & CLARK

- SOUNDS OF DISCOVERY

Music can transport us through time in a fashion no other means of communication can. SOUNDS OF DISCOVERY is a musical journey recreating songs and sounds as they may have been heard by members of the Corps of Discovery. The journey begins in Washington D.C. in 1802 and follows the route of the expedition to the West Coast and back. Follow along key points of the expedition with the 24 page booklet. The history of Lewis and Clark has been told many times, but the emotions of those explorers are better expressed through music and art. These are the feelings that drive to greatness. 37 songs included traditional Mandan, Shoshone, Lakota, Nez Perce and Yakima; also Irish, French, Scotch and fiddle.

LITTLE WOLF

- DREAM SONG

"This was the way of it. Let our circle be strong and full of medicine. Hear me this is my dream song..." David Carson teaches that the old songs were good. In the old days you were considered rich or poor by the number of songs you had. There were songs for just about everything. You were poor indeed if you had no song at all. Families kept songs and the very old songs were prized gifts from the ancestors. Songs were used to empower, to heal, to charm, for love, or to celebrate animals, life and the approach of death. These songs are medicine songs to celebrate the new, for songs are a doorway to a different system of being. Thirteen songs including: Prayer Song, Oweegon, Coyote Dance, Song For The Journey, Eagle Dream,

Moonlight, Jaguar, Night Chant, Buffalo Nation, Raven, Twisted Hair. Black Elk reminds us that "Sometimes dreams are wiser than waking."

CLAUDE MCKENZIE

- INNU TOWN

INNU TOWN. A place perfectly suited to this modern 21st Century world, yet as old as the earth. From this mythical, long forgotten place comes a music of the senses, a raw and powerful voice full of emotion and tenderness. Witness the voice of Claude McKenzie, soaring with nature and sharing the legends of the village on his debut solo album. With these twelve songs, Claude shares his universe of infinite richness. Ten of the songs were written and sung in Innu, a language that has been passed along orally for centuries, and which is now spoken by only 12,000 Native Canadians in Northeastern Quebec. Thousands have become familiar with this language due to the exceptional success of Claude and Florent Vollant's singing duo KASHTIN. For the first time Claude has recorded songs in English and French. A fine mix of contemporary and traditional sounds.

ROSE MOORE (Cherokee Rose)- SPIRIT OF SILENCE

If you like Enya, you will love ROSE MOORE (Cherokee Rose)! This haunting Classical Cross-over/New Age release gets better with every listen. The female voice from SACRED SPIRITS II collaborates with "THE BRAVE" to create a collection of spiritual tales. These are stories of a "woman on the road," the spiritual tales of a seeker who presents her experiences to the listener with sympathetic understanding of the challenges in store. The music is hard to categorize - it's New Age, yes... but has a multi-layered, multi-instrumental cross cultural flavor like Adiemus or Enigma and the added bonus of a meaningful message. 13 songs including O Spirit Tree, Blessed By The Angels, Softly The Wind, and Heaven & Sky.

SHELLEY MORNINGSONG- OUT OF THE ASHES

Never before has Native American music been so provocatively combined with the modern Pop music world. Morningsong is both a powerful singer and outstanding songwriter, and her original music and profound lyrics are filled with the essence of her Native American heritage. All it takes is one listen for the Pop laden hits on this electrifying recording to ignite your spirit and make your heart soar. Award winning producer Larry Mitchell augments Morningsong's captivating voice with sizzling electric guitar, bass, and drums artfully intertwined with Native percussion, tribal drums, and vocables. Morningsong adds more magic to the mix performing Native American flute. The result is a spectacular mix of mainstream and ethnic sounds that deliver Pop songs in a way the world has yet to experience. Of Northern Cheyenne heritage and raised in the entertainment rich climate of Southern California, Shelley Morningsong has been a performer on stage and screen since early childhood. Most recently she has been touring with Native American superstar performer Robert Mirabal.

NATURALLY NATIVE

NATURALLY NATIVE is the first mainstream feature to be written, directed and produced entirely by Native Americans. Premiering at the Sundance Film Festival in 1998 to extensive acclaim, NATURALLY NATIVE has since shown at over a dozen film festivals in the U.S. and abroad. Film openings were scheduled for spring and summer 2000 throughout the U.S. The NATURALLY NATIVE soundtrack features contributions from many top names in Native American music. New songs written specifically for the film were contributed by Joanne Shenandoah, Donna Summer and Juni Kae Randall. The original score adds a dramatic Native American sonance with Bill Miller featured on flute. Mary Youngblood, Walela and Arigon Starr add stellar tracks to the mix, while the Mystic River Singers hold down tradition with a spirited pow wow chant. The contrasts in the music reflect the many changes of life that are all part of the drama of NATURALLY NATIVE.

TRACY LEE NELSON- NATIVE BLUES - 500 YEARS OF THE BLUES

Blues guitarist and singer Tracy Lee Nelson grew up in two worlds - the crowded, suburban streets of Los Angeles County and the mountains of the La Jolla Reservation outside San Diego. Nelson's tunes detail contemporary Native life with a mixture of humor and anger. Poor Little Indian is a whimsical rendering of a bad day in a broken-down car that anyone can relate to. Fire In Her Eyes is a poignant love song. His understated vocals and subtle guitar work on Native American Holocaust seem to magnify the horrors of the tale. Nelson played with the White Cloud Singers for six years. He also played with Red Bone, one of the original Native rock bands of the 70's.

- TWO WORLDS - THREE WORLDS

In the early 1960's, Mescalero Apache musician, A. Paul Ortega created a sound that forever revolutionized the landscape of Native American music. A respected medicine man, he effortlessly fused Native American healing traditions with the gentle strum of guitar, the stomp of bass drum and the mournful cry of harmonica. With blues-tinged vocals and storytelling that draw upon Native culture, Two Worlds and Three Worlds have gone on to become modern classics of contemporary Native American musical expression. Tracks 1 thru 6 were originally released in 1969 as Two Worlds (APO2), tracks 7 thru 13 were originally released in 1969 as Three Worlds (APO3). Now available as one CD.

LARRY REDHOUSE TRIO- SPIRIT PROGRESSION

Larry Redhouse, America's premier Native American jazz pianist is based out of Tucson, Arizona. Playing piano for over 30 years, he has been influenced by the music of Jimi Hendrix, Santana, Miles Davis and the Beatles. Later, knowing that his forte was jazz, Larry has gone on to blend these influences into his own piano music. His music has evolved into a modern sound of mature, original jazz innovation, with an edge of raw creative energy. His direction in jazz emphasizes improvisation, unique interpretations of jazz standards and heartfelt, soul stirring original compositions. The trio plays through straight ahead jazz, Latin, funk and acoustic fusion seamlessly, while maintaining an air of open musical spontaneity. 10 songs including Desert Soul, Free Play, Malo Lalo's Mambo, and Keep Trying.
CA 2796 CD $16.98

THE REDHOUSE FAMILY- URBAN INDIAN

The REDHOUSE FAMILY is comprised of the six children of Rex and Maria Redhouse of the Diné Nation. The REDHOUSE FAMILY attributes their love of music to their father's singing of traditional songs and their mother's talents on the piano. They all sang in church choirs and several received classical training in piano. Mary (bass and vocals), Charlotte (vocals), Vince (tenor sax and guitar), Tony (percussion), Lenny (drums) and Larry (piano and keyboards). Nine great rhythm and blues songs with traditional instrumentation and chanting: Naomi's Dance, Change of Heart, Urban Indian, Sparky's Theme, Convergence, New Delhi, I Will Remember, O Where are You Tonight?, Round Dance for the Future. Liner notes.

CARLOS REYNOSA- WISEMAN

In WISEMAN Carlos bring us his deep and throaty singing along with his guitar stylings. It is hard to describe his style. Soft rock applies to a few songs, folk to others. Still others fit into the pop category. A pinch of flamenco, a dash of jazz, and a healthy portion of his very own acoustic magic are tossed in for flavor. The songs are balanced between Native-oriented songs and ballads about loves lost and found. 10 songs include Elena, Fly With Me, I Am and a vocal version of Vision as heard on SUNRISE.

BUFFY SAINTE-MARIE

When young people of today hear the name Buffy, they think vampire slayer. For those in the know, however, Buffy means the legendary BUFFY SAINTE-MARIE. Buffy speaks to us in a music-poetry style so uniquely her own that makes it hard to find its source. A hint of blues-inflection, a trace of Indian song, a touch of Parisian chanson, an echo of beat, a bit of weird, but nowhere a direct influence. She is a fusion of poet-composer-singer. The way of Buffy Sainte-Marie cuts through pain to awareness, digs through layers of human weakness to disclose the strengths of men, exposes what is in order to reveal what might be. Responding to numerous requests many of her original albums have been re-issued on CD.

- RUNNING FOR THE DRUM

Buffy Sainte-Marie has been running for the drum practically her whole life, pursuing its internal call to life, love, independence, creativity and activism. That drumbeat has led her to multiple careers and finally drew her back into the recording studio to create "Running for the Drum," her first new recording since 1996. Buffy crafted eleven original songs and an expanded version of America the Beautiful into what she calls her "usual whiplash collection of many styles—pop, protest, country, rock, dance-remix, rockabilly and big love songs." Packaged with the CD is a DVD documentary, "Buffy Sainte-Marie: A Multimedia Life. The biography traces Buffy's fascinating path from her birth on a Cree reservation in Saskatchewan to her early success in the Greenwich Village folk scene, her subsequent musical and political activism, which earned her a spot on the government's blacklist, and to her current role as artist, educator, unstinting activist and timeless musician. 12 songs on the CD include No No Keshagesh, I Bet My Heart On You, Still This Love Goes On, Too Much is Never Enough, Working for the Government, and America the Beautiful.

- FINGERMONKEY

Keith Secola and the Wild Band of Indians are the real thing - real rock and roll with an Aboriginal soul. They take a progressive approach to music, mixing traditional flute and rhythms with the sounds of the blues, reggae and the folk music of the 60's and 70's. Fingermonkey, Keith's third release, is "Alter-Native" music that defies categorization, running from beautiful instrumental ballads and Native rhythms to on-the-edge rock, folk-inspired tales, surreal audio explorations, and driving rock and hip-hop flavored work. He notes that his performances are like a traveling medicine show, where he interacts with the audience through different landscapes. Eleven songs including Millennium Cars, Talk About You and Wailing Blues.

JOANNE SHENANDOAH

Joanne Shenandoah was selected the 1994 Native Musician of the Year by the First Americans in the Arts Foundation for preserving traditional values within the field of contemporary music. Shenandoah's songs present her feelings and experiences as a member of the Oneida Six Nations Iroquois. One of the brightest singing talents today, Joanne has performed throughout Europe and the United States with Willie Nelson, Neil Young, Kris Kristofferson, Jackson Browne and Rita Coolidge. She opened Woodstock '94 and has appeared at the White House. Joanne recently was presented with an Honorary Doctorate of Music from Syracuse University. The award, the first of its kind ever to be presented to a Native musician at an American university, honors her as an acclaimed Native American singer, songwriter, and keeper of the Iroquois culture, emphasizing her commitment to peace among all people.

- JOANNE SHENANDOAH

Ten songs with an exciting and enchanting blend of harmonica, flute, rattles, bells, drums, guitar and synthesizer. Includes Is There No End, If Only You Knew, We Are The Iroquois, They Didn't Listen, and traditional Iroquois songs with rattle.

- MATRIARCH

MATRIARCH is a collection of complex melodies and chants rooted in the history of the Haudenosaunee (People of the Longhouse). They were composed to honor all women as the Lifegivers and as a series of thanksgivings for the bounties of Mother Earth. Recorded at ancient village sites on Iroquois land, Shenandoah's powerful solo vocals are joined by sounds from wind, water, fowl, Native American flute, resonating stones and percussion. The liner notes offer an excellent overview of Haudenosaunee women's history and culture. Winner of the 1997 INDI award for Native American Record of the Year.

- ALL SPIRITS SING

Award winning Iroquois singer and storyteller, Joanne Shenandoah, presents this epic musical journey of a young Iroquois girl searching for her own voice and song. Join in her quest filled with adventure and magic as she gets crooned by the moon, meets a turtle who speaks in "runny fiddles," and sings with the wolves. The music offers a beautiful blending of traditional Iroquois chants and Joanne's contemporary expression of her culture's values through song. There is a warm and humorous message for anyone who has ever felt shy about singing, yet wished more than anything that they could.

- PEACEMAKER'S JOURNEY

A collection of all new, original, and truly inspired compositions by highly acclaimed singer/songwriter Joanne Shenandoah. All sung in her native Iroquois language, these songs tell the story of the Peacemaker who helped bring peace to all the Iroquois Nations. One of the most beautiful voices of today is accompanied by violin, viola, cello, guitar, bass, and a lush array of other instruments to bestow a profoundly moving message of peace. A message that, according to Iroquois prophecy, will one day be heard by all. Nominated as Best Folk Recording - Native American Category at the 43rd Annual Grammy Awards, the first year for this category.
SC 923 CD $16.98

- WARRIOR IN TWO WORLDS

Joanne combines original compositions, a striking voice, and a blend of traditional and contemporary instrumentation to enhance the ancient songs of the Iroquois. Her music reflects the indigenous philosophy of her Native American culture which continues to have a profound effect on the world today. WARRIOR IN TWO WORLDS is a PBS documentary film, airing through the year 2000, about the life of Ely Parker. Parker was a 19th century American Indian who defied racial barriers to succeed in two very different worlds. He was a Six Nations Iroquois Confederacy Chief and Brigadier General in the US Army. His success became tainted with controversy - and his quest for the American dream turned tragic. Let the music of WARRIOR IN TWO WORLDS take you back to a place and time where challenges transcended into dreams and a man made a stand for what he believed to be right and just. The music is both haunting and melodic.

JOANNE SHENANDOAH & MICHAEL BUCHER- BITTER TEARS SACRED GROUND

The contributions of Native nations to the formation of the United States are barely known by most Americans. But life as we know it would not be possible without extracting from the indigenous peoples inventions such as corn, canoes, cotton and chocolate with democracy thrown in. The idea of a "union of colonies" along the Atlantic seaboard was suggested by the Haudenosaunee (Six Nations Iroquois) Confederacy in 1744. Treaties were signed between the infant United States and the Haudenosaunee which committed the Americans to respect Native lands. In the early 1950's the U.S. breached these treaties when the Army Corps of Engineers decided to build a massive hydroelectric dam on the Allegheny Seneca Territory in southwestern New York state. Peter Lafarge, a Native poet and musician, was moved by the forcible relocation of the Seneca's and wrote As Long As the Grass Shall Grow. This ballad caused Johnny Cash to record his historic "Bitter Tears" album which was blacklisted by commercial broadcasting outlets. Yet it has endured among indigenous people and remains one of the most popular of all recordings across Native America. Joanne and Michael re-affirm their Native heritage while recognizing the contributions made to make this great nation and offer up these songs in honor of all human beings, and the natural world. 13 songs including Apache Tears, Star Spangled Banner, America, Talking Leaves, and Sacred Ground.

JOHN TRUDELL

John Trudell is as direct and plain spoken as the words he puts to music. He is a people's poet in the truest sense of the term. His potent imagery and passionate convictions have established his reputation as a spoken word artist whose international following reflects the universal language of his music and his message. John's extraordinary life helped to forge his dangerous poetry and visionary music. From Omaha, Nebraska, John grew up in and around the Santee Sioux reservation. A Vietnam Veteran, John served in the U.S. Navy from 1963 - 1967, attended some college until he dropped out in 1969, and participated in the occupation of Alcatraz Island by Indians of All Tribes. In 1979 John met Jackson Browne, which led him into the world of music. He continues to be on the cutting edge. A poet, an activist. His poetry and music is political. It is about the spirit of his people. He is an artist.

JIMMY WOLF- RAW BLUES

When you listen to this CD you get exactly what the name implies, "RAW BLUES." From the first cut you get the real deal, kind of the modern version of the old time roadhouse whisky boogie blues. His guitar style is like that of Jimi Hendrix and Stevie Ray. Jimmy delivers his vocals in a George Thorougood style, kind of mean like his guitar playing. Be sure to fasten the seat belts and lock the doors and enjoy the ride when you play this recording.

WOLVES- ORIGINAL SOUNDTRACK RECORDING

Like the IMAX film itself, WOLVES has a decidedly Native American influence with songs by artists such as Robbie Robertson, Joanne Shenandoah, Walela and Mary Youngblood. From the evocative sounds of the compositions, the emotion and excitement of the film experience are brought back to life. The music is an inspiring and educational experience that portrays Native peoples' appreciation for wolves and for the earth.

- XIT: WITHOUT RESERVATION

In 1970, a young American Indian rock band burst upon the music scene. They carried a message of hope, unity, and truth to Indian people across America. Their lyrics brought to the surface the injustice that had been and continues to be inflicted upon Native people. In May of 2000, thirty years after their debut, XIT came together at the Mystic Lake Casino in Pryor Lake, Minnesota, for the band's first reunion. Many of the original band members - Tom Bee, Obie Sullivan, P.J. West, Willie Bluehouse Johnson, Jim Boyd, and Louie Lomativu - reunited to deliver this electrifying performance with a message that still speaks to the heart of the American Indian experience today. Guest appearance by Jennifer and Pura Fe of Ulali. This production is filled with some of XIT's greatest hits including Color Nature Gone, Reservation of Education, We Live, Young Warrior, Christopher Columbus, Cement Prairie, and more. Enjoy watching the DVD or VHS recording bathed in dramatic lighting, peppered with pyrotechnics - or listen to the full length CD.
